Section 1

This is a letter someone writes to ask for a job. The writer says his name and that he finished Systems Engineering at a university. He says he really wants this job because he loves technology and wants to help the company succeed. He believes he is motivated and can work well on his own. He explains he has strong problem-solving skills. He has learned many technical skills like programming with Python, JavaScript, and C#. He also knows how to make websites using HTML, CSS, Tailwind, and ReactJS. He can build mobile apps with React Native. He has worked with databases like MongoDB and PostgreSQL. Besides technical skills, he is good at speaking and writing. This helps him work well with teams and clients. He enjoys working where he can learn, contribute, and help the company reach its goals. He feels confident he will be a valuable worker. At the end, he thanks the reader and hopes to talk more about how he can help the company succeed.
